Outcome-based education aims to create a student-centric learning environment at the course level including curriculum and training. The POs, PSOs, and COs attainment is measured every session, for low attained courses, proper action is planned and efforts are made to improve the attainments if required beyond curriculum content and activities planned and implemented, this helps in improving the employability of students

The IQAC improve the teaching-learning process through standard academic practices, these academic practices include:

Mechanism to identify slow learners

Academically slow learners (Weak Students) are individuals who are unable to keep up with classroom instruction and require additional attention to bring them up to speed with the rest of the class. The institution evaluates learning levels of newly joined students at the start of classes. Based on their +2 marks, students enrolled are classified as slow or advanced learners. The identification of slow learners for other students and designing customized tutorial sessions are organized based on the feedback provided by the mentors. The mentors of the individual classes provide valuable assistance in classifying students through reports based on observation and class examinations. Furthermore, the variety of continuous assessment components, such as Daily Assignments, Seminars and Group Discussions, Additional Assignments, Quizzes, Class Tests, Projects, Internships, Viva-voce examinations, and attendance, allows for effective measurement of students' learning levels. Slow learners are also recognized based on their performance in the preceding semester's university assessments and internal examinations. Furthermore, teacher-student interactions, Class Committee reports, and Proctorial meetings aid in the identification of different levels of learners. Faculty members and other committees examine students' academic progress on a regular basis and advise them on how to enhance their performance in order to assure their academic progression. Aside from that, activities are incorporated to instill a positive attitude and a competitive spirit. This procedure serves as a foundation for tracking the student's future progress.

Measures taken for improving academic performance of these students

- Remedial/Extra classes are conducted with appropriate focus on the subject/ topics in which the students are found to be slow learners.
- Individual academic counseling is done by concerned subject teacher.
- Personal counseling is done through mentoring scheme which takes care of the students.
